JURY TRIALS ARE PUT OFF

CIRCUIT COURT EXCUSES JURYMEN UNTIL TOMORROW.

INSANITY CLAIM MADE

Attorney For W. W. Furlong, Accused Of Assaulting Wife, Charges He Was "Railroaded."

The petit jury was excused this morning until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, as there were no jury cases for trial in circuit court today.

W. W. Furlong, who was arrested last Saturday on a charge of wife beating, was arraigned in court this morning and his attorney, Ellis G. Cook, claimed Furlong is mentally unbalanced and that he was "jimmed through" without a preliminary hearing. Mr. Cook asked that a commission of physicians be appointed to examine Furlong as to his sanity, but the request was refused by the court. Then Mr. Cook announced that his firm, McCaffrey & Cook, would withdraw as counsel for the young man.

The preliminary hearing of Furlong was held late Saturday afternoon, according to a transcript certified by Judge J. H. Sayler, justice of the peace, to the circuit court. Mr. Cook contends that Furlong was "railroaded" through the preliminary. George P. Wright, prosecuting attorney, said the proceedings were explained to Furlong, that he said he would waive his preliminary and be bound over to circuit court, and that there was nothing to the charges made by Mr. Cook.

The Furlong case was set on the docket for Oct. 12.

Several cases were continued in court this morning. They were:

Leo Johnson vs. Harry A. Dalby, note; Mrs. Douglas Hayes vs. Virgil H. Million, defendant, Charles Million, garnishee; Hobs Sign Mfg. Co., vs. Paul Basford, appeal; First National Bank of Burlington Junction vs. L. R. McMillen, note; Farmers Bank of Parnell vs. Nellie J. Jones, note; Clevia Paris vs. J. F. Minard, note; State Highway Commission vs. Eugene Rathbun, et al, condemnation; Frank Ulmer vs. Ernest Shapley, appeal; Blondina Jones Pickering vs. W. E. Hartsock, damages; Fidelity Trust Co., vs. C. C. Phillips, note; Edith Glenn, collector, vs. Ed F. Archer, Phillip R. Growney and J. F. McManus, back taxes.

The Clearmont Cemetery Association, seeking incorporation, presented its petition, and the court appointed E. G. Cook, attorney, to examine the petition and report his findings.

Ellen snyder, and others, vs. Charley Mires, and others, note, stricken from docket.

HAS LOST IN WEIGHT

Several Burlington Junction Residents See Former Townsman—Stays In Jury Room Two Hours.

Robert Barber, who was brought back from the penitentiary at Jefferson City to testify before the grand jury, appeared before that body at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Barber was accompanied to the grand jury room by Deputy Sheriff Harve England. There were a number of Burlington Junction people and others in the corridor of the court house and outside to see Barber.

Barber appeared much lighter in weight than he did when he was sentenced in June to the penitentiary for a term of ten years after pleading guilty to embezzlements and forgeries committed while cashier of the Northwestern Bank at Burlington Junction.

Barber told Sheriff Campbell he was willing to tell anything he knew pertaining to the failure of the Northwestern Bank.

Barber was a witness before the grand jury for about two hours.

The grand jury is meeting today in the county court room, with John Rasco of Barnard as deputy sheriff in charge.

Burlington Resumes Service to St. Joseph

Several Miles Of Slow Track Between Maryville and Bolckow—Wabash Trains Still Detouring.

The Burlington resumed through service from Creston to St. Joseph this morning.

The morning train was practically on time here but was delayed considerably between here and Bolckow by several miles of "soft track." The train service is expected to be back on schedule within the next two days.

Wabash trains Nos. 12 and 3 are detouring by the way of Gallatin, Cameron and then to Chillicothe. Trains Nos. 11 and 14 are detouring by the way of Moberly to Des Moines and then on to Omaha. Service through Maryville may be back on schedule by tomorrow, it is believed. About one foot of water is still on the tracks east of Gallatin but it is slowly receding, according to reports from there. Grand River has been at a high stage but is understood to be falling this morning.

WILL MEET IN COURT HOUSE

TO ORGANIZE AGAINST LIQUOR LAW REPEAL PLAN.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Judge Dawson To Vacate Circuit Court Room At 2 o'clock—To Name Township Leaders.

Nodaway County will be organized to combat Proposition No. 4 (to repeal the Missouri liquor laws) at a mass meeting to be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the circuit court room at the county court house. Temporary officers named a short time ago are Uel W. Lamkin, chairman, Fred Wolfers, vice-president, and Mrs. Charles Gaugh, secretary.

"Judge John M. Dawson has arranged the docket so that the court room will be vacated at 2 o'clock," the temporary chairman said this afternoon. "Letters have been sent to about 500 persons in the county and we are hopeful for a fair attendance in case the condition of the roads will permit interested persons to come here.

"The danger connected with the contest against Proposition No. 4 is a still vote and it is hoped that we can get people to consider the thing seriously enough to go to the polls and cast their ballot. The prohibition laws have been enforced in this county in a much better manner than in some sections and it is up to us to maintain our reputation as law enforcers.

"There is a joint responsibility between national and state governments in connection with the prohibition laws and that responsibility should be assumed in the proper light. The question of nullification and secession was settled sixty years ago.

It is likely that the meeting tomorrow will be used to appoint two or more persons in each township as sub-committeemen who will attend to the organization of their own sections. A speaking campaign will be planned and arrangements made for prominent persons to appear in the churches and school houses of the county during the next several weeks.

Father of Russell Hamilton Is Killed

Funeral services were held at Trenton, Mo., today for Ross R. Hamilton, a prominent Rock Island railroad conductor, father of Russell Hamilton, who was graduated last spring from the State Teachers College here and who was married to Miss Dorothy Dow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dow of this city.

The conductor was killed Monday morning at Paris, Ia. The accident has not been fully explained, but it is supposed that Mr. Hamilton was on top of his train, making his way to or from the caboose, when he fell or was thrown between two cars. His mangled body was found on the track after the train had returned from Centerville, Ia., where the conductor was first missed.

Mrs. Hooker Home.

DOHENY CASE BEFORE COURT

GOVT. ATTORNEYS CHARGE FRAUD IN LEASES.

SEEK LAND'S RETURN

Supreme Court Seems Most Interested In $100,000 Transferred To Fall In "Little Black Bag."

Washington, Oct. 6.—The United States Supreme Court today had under advisement the Doheny Elk Hills oil lease annullment suit, in which arguments had been completed by Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts for the government, and by Frank J. Morgan and Frederick Kellogg, for Doheny's Pan-American companies.

Roberts sketched yesterday events leading up to the delivery of valuable oil leases to the Doheny companies by Secretary or Navy Denby and Secretary of Interior Fall, in seeking to show that fraud and lack of proper authority were involved.

Members of the court seemed most interested in the transfer of $100,000 from Doheny to Fall in the "little black bag" incident and in Doheny's statement before the Senate committee that he expected to make 100 million dollars from the lease.

Roberts charged the navy with attempting to get oil storage tanks without Congressional sanction after money was refused for oil depots. The navy discussed a program of bartering its oil for a large system of oil depots on both coasts as well as Hawaii, valued at 103 million dollars, he charged. The Elk Hills leases, under which the oil companies built the Pearl Harbor depot in return for the oil, was only the first of this program, he said.

A decision in the case may come within a few months, it is believed.

Further Danger Has Hampered Rescuers

Fire And Further Explosions Are Feared And Recovery Of More Bodies Has Been Delayed.

Rockwood, Tenn., Oct. 6.—Thwarted by fire and the danger of other explosions, rescue workers today admitted it may be days and even weeks before the bodies of twenty-one miners still remaining in the wrecked workings of the Roane Iron Co's. mine here can be recovered.

Although rescue crews worked steadily in two-hour relays, no more bodies had been brought to the surface since early yesterday when six were recovered.

The official death toll has been placed at twenty-seven by the company officials.

Ten Million Dollars Loss to Illinois Crop

Fifty Thousand Acres of Corn Totally Destroyed and More Partially Damaged By Floods.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.—Flood damage to the Illinois corn crop will approximate ten million dollars, according to figures compiled by S. J. Standard, state director of agriculture, and made public today.

Of the 300 million bushels estimated in the fields, about 30 per cent is considered damaged by water to the extent of 10 cents a bushel, which makes a total of about nine million dollars. Floods have totally destroyed fifty thousand acres, it is estimated, and at a market price of 60 cents a bushel, adds a million dollars to the loss.

DEFENSE HAS FINISHED CASE

DAUGHERTY AND MILLER TO KNOW FATE SOON.

BROTHER IS RECALLED

Mal Daugherty Tells of Smith's Account in Bank to Pay Off Political Debts.

New York, Oct. 6.—The defense closed its case at noon today in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, and Col. Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, charged with conspiracy in connection with the return to foreign interests of the seven-million-dollar assets of the American Metals Co., which had been seized during the war.

Motions were promptly made to dismiss the indictments against the defendants. Two motions were made, one by Max Steuer, counsel for Daugherty, the other by Col. William Rand, attorney for Miller. The motions were denied by Federal Judge Julian Mack.

The jury was excused until 2 o'clock this afternoon when summation of the case will be started. The lawyers were expected to take up more than one full day in summation.

Daugherty and Miller are accused of not having given their best services to the government in connection with the American Metals case.

Mal Daugherty, president of the Midland National Bank of Washington Courthouse, Ohio, resumed the stand today. He was grilled by United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner regarding the political and financial status of the late Jesse Smith, country store keeper and later assistant to Harry M. Daugherty. The witness was especially questioned in regard to the account in the Midland National Bank, known as the "Jesse Smith Extra." This account was used for political money to make up the deficit in the Harding campaign fund in Ohio, he had testified.

In relation to Smith's financial status, Mal Daugherty testified this morning that in 1919, before Smith entered politics, he had a private fortune of $175,000 and when he died, he left $200,000. After Smith's suicide, the Daugherty brothers opened a joint account with $850 from the "extra" account, which was closed out. When the witness was asked whether this was a political account, he said, "Yes and no." He explained by saying that it was political as far as the $850 went but not otherwise.

Wall Street Betting on St. Louis Cards

Davis Declares High Tariff Must Remain

Secretary of Labor Says It Protects The High Wages of American Working Men.

Kansas City, Oct. 6.—"We must have a high tariff to protect the American workingmen's high wages."

This was the statement here today by James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, who said he was touring the Middle West in the interest of the forthcoming Senatorial campaigns.

"We are facing a new problem in connection with the tariff," Davis added, "since there is propaganda coming from the international importers and the international bankers of the East to let down the bars to foreign-made goods."

YANKS EVEN THE SERIES

FOURTH GAME RESULTS IN SLUGGING MATCH.

RUTH HITS 3 HOMERS

The Babe eLads Attack by New York's 'Murderer's Row"—Score 10-4 in Seventh Inning.

St. Louis, Oct. 6. — "Murderer's Row" came through today with a vengeance.

Led by the redoubtable Babe Ruth, the Yankees of New York slugged their way to victory over the Cardinals of St. Louis in the fourth game of the World Series, the score in the first half of the eighth inning being 10 to 4.

The Babe was the whole show today. Recovering his batting eye after a disappointing showing in the first three games, he broke a world series record by hitting three home runs. He also got two bases on balls, scored four runs, and starred afield with a perfect throw to catch a runner at the plate.

The Yankee victory today tied up the series at two games each and necessitated a return to New York for the deciding game or games, after the final contest in St. Louis tomorrow.

The Cardinals used four pitchers in an attempt to stop the Yank assault. Rehm started but gave way to a pinch hitter in the fourth inning, when the Cardinals scored three runs and took the lead for the only time during the game. Reinhart, who succedded him, allowed one hit and gave four bases on balls before he was taken out. By the time H. Bell stopped the rally, the game was hopelessly gone. Hallahan finished for St. Louis.

First Inning.

Yankees: Combs struck out. Koenig also struck out. Babe Ruth knocked a home run into the right field stands. It was the first Yankee run after sixteen scoreless innings. Meusel walked. Gehrig singled to right and Meusel tried to score but was out at the plate, Southworth to Thevenow to O'Farrell. One run, two hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Douthit drove a grounder to deep short and beat the throw to first. It was scored a hit. Southworth singled to center, Douthit taking third. Hornsby drove the third straight hit to right field, scoring Douthit and sending Southworth to second. Bottomley sent a hard drive to Ruth in left field, the first putout. Bell flied to Combs in center and Southworth went to third. Bell getting a sacrifice. Hornsby stole second while Severeid fumbled for the ball. Hafey struck out, retiring the side. One run, three hits, no errors.

Second Inning.

Yankees: Lazerri hit a long two-base hit between center and left but was out at third trying to stretch the hit. Douthit to Thevenow to Bell. Dugan's pop fly was taken by Thevenow. Severeid singled over second. Hoyt, after Rehm had thrown him three balls, took two strikes and then sent a short fly into right field, which Hornsby caught. No runs, two runs, no errors.

Cardinals: O'Farrell drove a liner over second, but Lazerri made the catch. Gehrig took Thevenow's infield fly. Rehm struck out, taking a called third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning.

Yankees: Combs was out, Hornsby to Bottomley. Ruth got hold of another one and sent his second home run into the right field stands. It was a much harder drive than the first, and he received a great hand from the St. Louis crowd. The ball went into grand boulevard and broke a window across the street. Meusel was out, Rehm to Bottomley. One run, one hit, no errors.

Cardinals: The left field bleachers rose to acclaim the Sultan of Swat as he took his position. Douthit was out, Koenig to Gehrig. Southworth hit a Texas leaguer to center and it fell between Koenig and Combs. Hornsby struck out. Bottomley was out, Lazerri to Gehrig. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

Yankees: Gehrig struck out. Lazerri walked. On Dugan's short fly between center and left, Douthit and Hafey collided violently and both fell, apparently badly hurt. Lazerri scored and Dugan was credited with a two-base hit. Both Douthit and Hafey were able to resume play. Severeid singled to center, and Dugan was out at the plate, trying to score. Douthit made a perfect throw to O'Farrell. Hoyt struck out. One run, two hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Bell flied out to Koenig. Hafey singled over second. On Koenig's error, O'Farrell was safe at first and Hafey took second. Thevenow singled to right, scoring Hafey, and on Meusel's throw to home, O'Farrell took third and Thevenow second. Toporcer batted for Rehm and sent a high fly

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington—Senator Jim Reed's committee of investigation into primary election expenditures probably will make two reports, it appears, when Congress meets.

The members will meet in Washington directly after election. Until then there is no way of telling with absolute certainty how they stand, but the line of cleavage is pretty evident.

Senators Reed and King, Democrats, and Senator La Follette, an insurgent Republican, feel one way. Senators McNary and Goff, regular Republicans, show signs of dissenting.

William S. Vare and Frank L. Smith, the two candidates especially criticized for what they spent to get senatorial nominations, in Pennsylvania and Illinois respectively, both are Republicans of the very regular pattern.

Reed, King and La Follette assured by will oppose letting them have Senate seats if they're elected.

McNary and Goff can hardly fail to agree that expenditures as large as Vare's and Smith's are bad business, but they may take the position that no evidence of actual corruption has been shown and that, lacking it, the exclusion of the pair from the Senate would be overdoing matters.

Reed and La Follette, as opponents of prohibition, are almost sure also to take a sharp dig at the Anti-Saloon League for its political activities.

McNary and Goff, as drys, probably will say the league has done nothing to be blamed for.

King's attitude is rather doubtful. His sympathies are supposed to be dryish, but his tendency will be to flock with Reed and La Follette.

INFANTA NOT COMING HERE

SPANISH PRINCESS CANCELS RESERVATIONS.

QUEEN MARIE BUSY

Wants To Absorb As Much American Atmosphere As Possible Before Arriving In United States.

Paris, Oct. 6.—The Infanta Beatrice of Spain today suddenly cancelled her passage to America on the Leviathan and will not accompany Queen Marie of Roumania on her tour.

No reason as given for the princess' unexpected action.

Queen Marie, anxious to absorb as much of the American atmosphere as possible prior to arriving in New York two weeks hence, has turned to Paris theaters where American players are appearing or where American life is portrayed. The queen has arranged to attend a boulevard movie theater this afternoon where Douglass Fairbanks' picture "The Black Prince" is now being shown. For this evening, she has engaged a box for the French version of "No, No Nannette."

The royalty visitor spent the morning shopping in the exclusive shops and had an engagement to lunch with Maharajah of Kapurthala at his Bois de Cologne home.

Returns to Holstein.

Perry N. Sapp returned to Holstein, Ia., Tuesday morning after a few days visit with his mother and brother, Mrs. Sapp and Edwin Sapp. He is employed in his brother's business at the poultry and produce plant at Holstein, a central plant for their fourteen buying stations and reports a splendid business. He says the weather up there has been very cold and wet, but perhaps not so much rainfall as in this part of the country.

Fifth Inning.

Yankees: Reinhart went to the mound for the Cardinals. Combs walked. Koenig hit a Texas leaguer to right and Combs scored, Koenig being credited with a two base hit. Ruth was passed. Meusel also walked. Reinhart issued a fourth pass to Gehrgig, forcing Koenig in with a run, and Bell replaced Reinhart. Lazerri flied out to Southworth, Ruth scoring and Meusel going to third. Dugan bunted and Meusel scored while O'Farrell was throwing out Dugan. Bell made a balk, and Gehrig was waved to third. Severeid was passed. Hoyt then forced Severeid, Hornsby to Thevenow for the third out. Four runs, one hit, no errors.

Cardinals: Hornsby out, Lazerri to Gehrig. Bottomley walked. Bell was out, Dugan to Gehrig, Bottomley taking second. Hafey struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning.

Yankees: Combs beat out a hit to Thevenow. Koenig struck out. With the count two and three, Ruth hit his third homerun of the day, this time into the centerfield bleachers, almost into a line. It was probably the longest hit ever made in Sportsman's Park and the first time the ball has been hit into the bleachers in centerfield. Meusel singled to right, but was out at second on Southworth's throw to Hornsby. Gehrig hit to left field for two bases. Lazerri hit a pop fly to Thevenow. Two runs, four hits, no errors.

Cardinals: O'Farrell hit to the right of Lazerri, who made a beautiful stop, but it was a hit. Thevenow also hit safely. Flowers batted for H. Bell and struck out. Douthit flied to Meusel and the runners did not advance. Southworth was out, Koenig to Gehrig, retiring the side. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning.

Yankees: Hallahan went in to pitch for St. Louis. Dugan was out, Hornsby to Bottomley. Severeid singled off Hallahan's glove into center field. Hoyt sacrificed, Hallahan making the putout unassisted. Combs doubled along the left field line, scoring Severeid. Koenig struck out. One run, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning.

Yankees: The Babe walked. His batting average for the series is now .385. Meusel also walked, Ruth going to second. Gehrig was out, Hornsby to Bottomley, Ruth going to third and Meusel to second. Lazerri hit to Bell, who made a beautiful stop and tagged Ruth. Lazerri was safe at first. Dugan walked and the bases were full. Severeid flied to Lester Bell for the third out. No runs, not hits, no errors.

STATE ROAD IS AGAIN FLOODED

ALL TRAFFIC HALTED ON HIGHWAY NO. 71.

ILLINOIS IS STRICKEN

Streets of Beardstown Becoming Roaring Streams As River Continued To Rise—1,000 Homeless.

Platte City, Oct. 6.—For the second time in two weeks water today flooded federal highway No. 71, formerly state highway No. 1, halting all traffic. The Platte River has been out of its bank since September 5 with the exception of one or two days, the first time in the last fifty years that rains have caused an overflow, according to old residents. Previous floods, however, have been caused by back water from the Missouri River.

Beardstown, Ill., Oct. 6.—Streets of Beardstown today became swirling torrents as the waters of the Illinois River swept with increased fury over the levees and into more than 90 per cent of the entire city.

More than one thousand persons are homeless.

Fighting against time and the rising river, men labored throughout the night and early today frantically loading and placing sand bags against the foundations of those few buildings which have not as yet experienced the ravages of the fifteen-day rain.

Rain fell yesterday last night and early today and the forecast is for continued rain tomorrow. A more disheartening spectacle has never been presented to the people here. Millions of dollars worth of property has been destroyed.

Quarreled Since Wedding Day

"My stomach and liver trouble made a regular grouch of me. I was sore at every one, including my wife, and we quarreled every day since the wedding. She is a dear little girl and I know it was my fault. MAYR'S was recommended for my stomach trouble, and since taking it I have felt like a new man. My wife and I now get along beautifully." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all druggists.—Adv.

Elmo Man Tells of Panhandle Region and Its Development

Editor's note: O. E. Bradley of Elmo recently visited the Panhandle region of Texas, where he has owned land for many years. When he returned home he wrote the following story for the Amarillo Sunday News-Globs.

The story gives a visitor's impression of this new oil region and shows something of the attention it is attracting throughout the United States.

For the benefit of those who have always heard of the Panhandle of Texas yet have had only a vague understanding of its meaning, I will endeavor, after a five weeks' visit to this great undeveloped country, to give a brief description of its geographical location, topography, early history, past and present developments, and its future possibilities, as seen from a traveler's view point.

Geographical Location.

The Panhandle of Texas is located in the extreme northwest corner of the great state of Texas; or is that part of the map of the state of Texas which resembles a pan handle; yet the part generally spoken of as Panhandle country, also as "Llano Estacado, or High Staked Plains," embodies about 40 counties in northern and northwestern Texas, and about 10 counties in Eastern New Mexico.

This great staked plains country covers an area as large or larger than the states of Iowa or Missouri, being 250 to 300 miles long and 150 to 200 miles wide, extending in a northeast to southwest direction.

Topography.

This vast country, known as "Llano Estacado, or High Staked Plains," is so called from the fact that during the early history of the earth's formation, and through the cooling and wrinkling of its surface, this vast territory became uplifted, from 300 to 1,000 feet higher than the surrounding territory, and its vast top surface was left almost as smooth as a floor, with the exception of a few small canyons or breaks and numerous surface water lakes; hence the name "High Staked Plains."

During this great uplift, there also became a back settling and breaking around the edges or flanks of this High Staked Plains which left them in places, very abrupt or sloping and irregular, and extending for hundreds of miles surrounding the plains, and making a beautiful contrast thereto.

The Canadian and Rio Pecos rivers each have their headwaters to the northwest of this great uplift, and each flowing in a parallel southeasterly direction until striking the uplift, when they divide, with the Canadian winding its way through the rough broken flanks on the northern and northeastern sides of the great plains country, while the Rio Pecos finds its way toward the Rio Grande along the western and southwestern flanks.

I might state here that it is along these two rivers and along the sides and flanks of this great uplift where the world's greatest oil field is now being developed.

This great plains country has an altitude of from 3,500 to 4,300 feet above sea level. The soil is a dark chocolate sandy loan, ranging from 2 to 7 feet thick, and being very rich, is underlaid with a subsoil which is ideal for the conservation of moisture while a bountiful supply of pure water may be had at from 20 to 150 feet.

Early History.

This great Panhandle country and the High Staked Plains was first brought into prominence when the state of Texas signed an agreement with a Scotch syndicate of capitalists and a deal consummated whereby the Texas state capitol building was erected, and two million acres of western Texas land, which embodied the greater part of this High Staked Plains area, was given in consideration.

Prior to this time this vast era was only a great stretch of desolate prairie land, inhabited only by rattlesnakes, prairie dogs, coyotes and wolves, and although it was covered during the rainy seasons with a heavy blanket of buffalo grass, yet on the account of the absence of running streams, it was at that time known as a part of the great American desert, and avoided even by the Indians.

After its ownership passed into the hands of the Scotch syndicate they immediately converted it into the largest ranch in the world, known as the X. I. T. ranch. This ranch was well stocked with the best herds of Scotland for that purpose. It was here on the great X. I. T. ranch that the world's greatest "roundups" were held; and it was here that the Panhandle whiteface and the Texas cowboy gained their justly earned world renown.

After many years of profitable ranching from whence thousands of our best feeding steers were supplied to the corn belt feed lots of the central states, it was then learned that the deep rich soil could be profitably farmed, and in the most favored seasons of rainfall, would produce enormous crops of wheat, oats, kaffir corn, milo maize, broom corn, millet, sudan grass, cotton, cantaloupes and melons.

With the advent of the farmers and railroads; and as cities and towns sprang up, the great ranches became divided into smaller farms and ranches; although many large ranches still remain, the largest of which covers parts of 3 counties; contains 800,000 acres, and is owned and operated by the Matador Land & Cattle Co.

Hardships Of Eeary Settlers.

Although the great High Staked Plains of the Panhandle of Texas and eastern New Mexico comprised the largest body of rich undeveloped farming land in the United States, yet the way of those who first sought to till the soil, was not strewn with flowers and riches. Like the early days of Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and the Dakotas, —many have come; and many have gone; while some have returned and more have came with them, until it can readily be seen that the hand of man at the plow is gradually becoming the conqueror over adverse weather conditions, as he gradually lessens the broad stretches of open prairie and converts them into strips of green growing crops. Railroads, towns and even cities have been built as a mark of the steady progress in this great undeveloped country; with Amarillo as the railroad center, wholesale and warehouse center, banking center, and metropolis of the northern plains country; and Plainview as the great center and metropolis of the south plains country.

Yet with all these marks of progress, the greatest need of this great plains country was—industries other than farming, which would bring more people, who in turn would make a home market for the farmers products and act as a stimulant to the farming industry during adverse seasons.

Discovery Of Oil.

Now this great industry has come. The great stimulant which the farmer needed is being supplied. People, the one great thing which the great plains country needed most, are coming, not just a few but thousands of them; hordes of them.

When the Great Creator saw the need, he revealed to his people the fact that immense quantities of oil and gas had been stored beneath the surface of the rough broken country, which surrounded this beautiful plains; and extending for a distance of 400 to 500 miles in length and 10 to 30 miles in width. So, People—the one great thing which the Great Panhandled needed, are coming. They are coming this time to stay; because of the greatest body of rich undeveloped land in the United States ;and because of the greatest oil and gas fields in the world surrounding it.

Millions In Wealth.

These people are bringing their wealth; millions of it, from New York, California, Florida, Colorado, Oklahoma, East Texas and every corner of the Nation; for the purpose of investment in this great country where they realize that greater fortunes are to be made during the next few year, than have ever before been made in any country.

Building Activities.

These people are busy. They mean buisness. They are drilling oil wells, laying pipe lines, building tank farms, million dollar refineries, oil well supply houses, building new cities 40 miles from railroad, building railroads, laying off additions and subdivisions to older cities and towns, grading and paving streets and roads, and building million dollar hotels.

In fact these 200,000 new inhabitants are as busy as a million bees; and yet this great country needs 500,000 more general farmers, and 200,000 more oil men.

Will It Last?

The answer of a close observer would be—Yes. Because the Santa Fe and Rock Island railroads are each pulling trains one mile long; and yet are unable to handle the enormous wheat crop which was raised this year. The average being from 30 to 60 bushels per acre, and there is one million acres of virgin prairie which never had a plow mark on it. Again your answer would be—Yes. Because the great Panhandle Oil Field now has a daily production of 117,070 bbls., with 157 wells waiting for storage, and a total of 673 wells now drilling. And yet there is another 1-2 million acres, which are known to be oil bearing, waiting for development.

The world needs the oil, wheat, etc. What the Panhandle Country needs is—Capital and people who want to work. Then more Capital and more industrious people; and this great Panhandle Country will give its riches in return, to the extent of greater wealth than ever before from any country.

AGITATION FOR FAIR GROWING

CITIZENS THROUGHOUT COUNTY FAVOR PROPOSAL.

WOULD BE BENEFIT

Hal Hooker Believes Suitable Site Could Be Secured.—Committee Reported Sometime Ago.

Sentiment for a Nodaway County fair is increasing.

Not only Maryville business men but several farmers and merchants from the surrounding country have expressed themselves in favor of a big county fair next year.

Several sites are available and it is thought that one could be purchased at a reasonable price.

Although estimates vary as to the cost of the fair the opening year, it is thought that it would be near $50,000, including the cost of the land and other initial expenses.

In commenting on the proposal yesterday afternoon, Hal Hooker said he was very much in favor of a fair for Nodaway County and believed one could be held next year. He said that a fair would be a great benefit to Nodaway County and believes it would be well supported. Mr. Hooker said there are several good sites near Maryville which should be bought for a reasonable price.

There has been considerable agitation for a Nodaway County fair for the last two or three years. At one time, a committee was appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to investigate the proposal and the committee reported that no desirable site could be purchased for a reasonable price. This was several months ago and there has been nothing done since that time.

These lectures will be given at the mid-week services every Wednesday night, beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

In connection with the study, the minister will deal with the problems, "The Bible and Science," "The Bible and Inspiration," "The Bible and Revelation," "The Bible and the Right Way To Use It," "The Bible and Its Influence Upon Life and Literature," and "The Place of the Bible In Our Modern Life."

The public is cordially invited to attend the lectures and take notes if desired.

"These studies cover a good deal that should be of vital interest to every member of the church," the Rev. Mr. Dewar said this morning.

JUDGED THE BABY BEEVES

MAYSVILLE TEAM WINS TROPHY AT INTERSTATE SHOW.

MYRON CRATER TALKS

Boy Spoke for This County In St. Joseph Last Night—W. A. Berg Pleased With Show.

The DeKalb county judging team, composed of Byron Owen, Albert Dyer and Karney Redman, all of Maysville, Mo., won first place in the Missouri boys' and girls' judging contest, held at the Interstate Baby Beef Show in St. Joseph Tuesday. The teams were required to judge the best animal in two classes of beef cattle and two classes of fat hogs.

Nodaway county was represented by Raymond Crater, Clifford Froyd and Leon Brown.

Caldwell county placed second in the judging contest. Martin Hank, George Heinlein and John Carman, all of Braymer. Sullivan county, represented by Marion Clark, Hugh Baldridge and Fred Havens of Milan, Mo., was third.

Among the Four-H club members who spoke for their counties at the meeting held in South St. Joseph last night was Myron Crater, of this county.

"This year's show is a wonderful example of what can be done with calves if the proper feeding methods are followed," said W. A. Berg, well known breeder and feeder of Aberdeen-Angus show cattle of Maryville told St. Joseph newspaper men yesterday. "There is a finish on all the animals that is encouraging, and every one is worthy of note. It has been a far step from the first show here when thirty-odd calves were lined up for the judge to select a champion from, but a show that is not improved with the years is not worth continuing. I have attended all of the baby beef shows in St. Joseph, and I can say that those exhibited here today are far in advance of the animals first shown."

Mr. Berg is the father of Maurice Berg, who won the grand championship in 1922 and 1923 on an Angus entry. The boy has not entered an animal in the show this year, but has an Angus for the auction Thursday.

The social event of the exhibition week will be tonight when the Stock Yards Company will be host to the young feeders at a dinner at the Transit House. Cups and other awards will be presented at that time and a general happy evening is expected.

Among the speakers will be Charles L. Faust, representative in congress; J. E. Jerrell, Santa Fe agricultural specialist, Topeka, and A. J. Meyer, extension worker from the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri.

Twenty-seven counties in Missouri, Kansas and Iowa are represented at the show with each of the sister states having six counties and the remainder representing Missouri. The counties entered are: Missouri—Atchison, Buchanan, Caldwell, Carroll, Mercer, Charlton, Clinton, Daviess, De Kalb, Ray, Andrew, Sullivan, Worth, Holt, Gentry, Putnam and Nodaway; Kansas—Adams, Brown, Doniphan, Taylor, Jackson, and Atchison; Iowa—Ringgold, Pottawattamie, Taylor, Page, Freemont and Jefferson.

Gilbert Batt, fifteen years old, of Grant City, Mo., won first prize for pigs in the judging in the ton litter contest Tuesday afternoon. He had ten cross-bred Duroc-Jerseys, which weighed 2,935 pounds. First prize is $25.

Second prize went to Russell Gann, seventeen years old, of Gallatin, Mo., who exhibited thirteen Chester Whites. He drew $20.

The third prize went to James Tuggle, fourteen, also of Gallatin, who got $17.50 for his eleven Duroc-Jerseys.

Fourth and fifth places went respectively to Dale White, fifteen, of Gallatin.

Awards in the single barrows class were made yesterday as follows: First, Gilbert Ball, Grant City, Poland-China; second, Claude Lynn, Watson, Mo., black Poland-China; third, Russell Gann, Gallatin, Chester White; fourth, James Tuggle, Gallatin, Duroc-Jersey; fifth, Albert Campbell, Fairfax, cross between Poland-China and Chester White. Prize money ranged from $15 to $5.

Republicans to St. Joseph Today

A number of Republicans headed by E. C. Curfman, county chairman, went to St. Joseph this morning to attend a party conference. Dr. E. B. Clements, Republican national committeeman, is in St. Joseph today and will address the conference.

Mrs. Clyde Kegin left at noon today to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Springer, Cedar Point, Iowa, and to visit friends at Davenport.

ENGLAND WILL BE IN CHARGE

HAS BEEN NAMED SUPERVISOR OF POULTRY SHOW HERE.

TO BE IN DECEMBER

Theodore Gray, Secretary-treasurer of Poultry Breeders Association, Announces Harve England's Appointment.

Harve England, who has supervised poultry shows held in Maryville in past years, will be superintendent of the annual exhibits to be shown in the Armory, December 1st to 4th, under the auspices of the Northwest Missouri Poultry Breeders Association, it was announced today by Theodore Gray, secretary-treasurer of that organization. Directors will meet within the next few days to compete the premium list which is to be announced soon.

Those who are members of the board of directors of the poultry association and who are very active in the breeding of fine poultry are Mrs. Homer Thompson, Conception Junction, B. C. Wray, Hopkins, Mrs. Guy Aley, Maryville, Mrs. John Morehouse, Hopkins, J. Ward Stevenson, Graham, and A. E. Straub, Skidmore.

Mrs. John Hamilton, of Maryville, who is president of the association, has announced that premiums also will be given on eggs this year. She said, "Prizes will be given to exhibitors of white eggs, brown eggs and a grand championship award will be made for the best eggs, regardless of color.

"Most of our market eggs are not graded properly as to size and color. Poultry breeders must breed for good, standard egg size and secure that size if their efforts toward raising fine poultry are to be successful. The best dozen eggs should be uniform in size, and color, fine smooth texture of shell, standard weight which is about twenty-four ounces to the dozen.

"There is some prediction that at a not far distant date eggs will be sold by weight than by the dozen. Egg grades and egg prices are already based partly on definite standards for weight so the consumer really buys eggs by weight at this time.

"Nothing appeals more strongly to an enthusiastic horseman than fine specimens of that type of animal. A large showing of high class and well-bred horses will cause him to desire better animals for his own stables. So it is with the poultryman and the poultry show.

"The poultry shows are the meeting grounds of the most successful breeders and nothing can compare with this in quickening the interest and enlarging the ambitions of members of the poultry fraternity.

"Breeders of high class poultry should attend the show and exhibit their fowls if they expect to get very far along in this business. This is the only way others have traveled and is the only means by which any one can arrive at a high point of success in breeding high class fowls and get the stock before the public."

Members of the Northwest Missouri Poultry Breeders Association include the following: B. T. Wray, Mrs. John Morehouse, Mrs. Glen Jeffers, Mrs. E. T. Miller of Hopkins; Homer Thompson, W. C. Eckery, Conception Junction; J. Ward Stevenson, Graham; Mrs. D. F. Sherlock, St. Joseph; Mrs. D. N. Hosher, Barnard; T. R. Livengood, R. T. Lamar, Elmo; F. C. Ware, Arkoe; W. L. Brown, King City; J. Ross Fleetwood, Mrs. John Hamilton, Charles Viles, Mrs. Guy Aley, H. England, T. C. Gray, F. P. Robinson, J. H. Sayler, Mary Hamilton, Mrs. Charles Foster, Mrs. W. O. Griffey, Mrs. Ida McKenzie, Mrs. Frona Stevenson, Otho Robey, Charles L. Green, Mrs. J. A. Clark, Mrs. P. R. Moore, Mrs. R. E. Allen, Mrs. A. S. Watson, Mrs. Ralph White, Mrs. George Fred Davis, Mrs. Eugene Ogden, Mrs. Artie Craven, Mrs. Ernest Wray, Mrs. William Job, Mrs. Edward Hewit, Mrs. George Lucas, Mrs. C. N. Johnson of Maryville.

LIFE HARD ON A FRESHMAN

THE PADDLE IN OFFING

Green Caps, Entrance by Side Door and Chaperones for "Dates" Required by Upperclass Rules.

At any moment an upperclassman may bear down upon him with a paddle decorated with skull and crossbones and inscribed with ominous warnings. "Bear down" in this case frequently has a double meaning.

It is so easy for the freshman to make a mis-step. He may forget to don one of the little green caps with which the town is be-sprinkled. He may have had a lapse of watchfulness and continued up the front walk, entering the administration building by the front door, a most grevious offense. He may have become so enamoured of some bewitching freshman girl that he ventured a "date" without a sophomore, junior or senior for chaperone.

Any of these transgressions upon the rules for freshmen, laid down by the upperclassmen but particularly by the sophomore class, may subject the guileless beginners to punishment. And what goes for the Freshmen boys goes equally for the Freshman girls, except that the paddle is not used as means of punishment in their case.

Some Relief Given.

The freshmen got some relief yesterday when President Uel W. Lamkin intervened and put an end to the practice of "buttoning." The rules first announced required all freshmen, both boys and girls, to "button" upon the command of any sophomore, junior or senior.

The art of buttoning was performed in the following manner: On the count of one, the middle finger of the right hand was placed on the button on the top of the green cap and the culprit stood at attention. On the count of two, the knees were bent in a half bend and, on the count of three, quickly brought to attention again.

The freshmen themselves voted in a meeting a few days ago to wear the green cap. A number of schools require freshmen men to wear the cap, but here the girls also are required to don it. Furthermore, when it was discovered a day or two ago that some of the class were disregarding the rule, a meeting was held and the class again went on record as favoring implicit obedience.

With "buttoning" abolished, the remaining rules follow.:

Rules for Boys

1. The green cap must be worn to all school functions, and within the city limits until the last football game. They are not to be worn in any of the buildings neither are they to be worn on Sunday.

2. No one may have a date unless a sophomore, junior or senior is along.

3. The front or main entrance to the administration building may not be used for entrance. The punishment for this is re-entering on the hands and feet. The door may be used for exit.

The above rules are to be enforced by the sophomore, junior and senior boys. The mode of enforcement shall be the use of some form of persuasion that will not impair the health of the freshman. Anyone hurting the freshman to the extent of impairing his health shall take the responsibilities of the hurt upon himself.

Rules for Girls.

1. Green caps shall be worn to all school functions, in the halls and on the campus until the last football game. The cap is not to be worn on Sunday.

2. No one may have a date unless a sophomore, junior or senior is along.

3. The front or main entrance to the administration building is not to be used for entrance. The punishment for this shall be the bowing low of the culprit to the sophomore, junior or senior who has caught the victim. The door may be used as an exit.

The above rules are to be enforced by the sophomore, junior and senior girls. The mode of enforcement shall be the use of some form of persuasion that will not impair the health, modesty, or morality of the freshman. Anyone hurting a freshman to the extent of impairing any of the above qualities possessed by the freshman shall take the responsibility of the hurt upon herself.

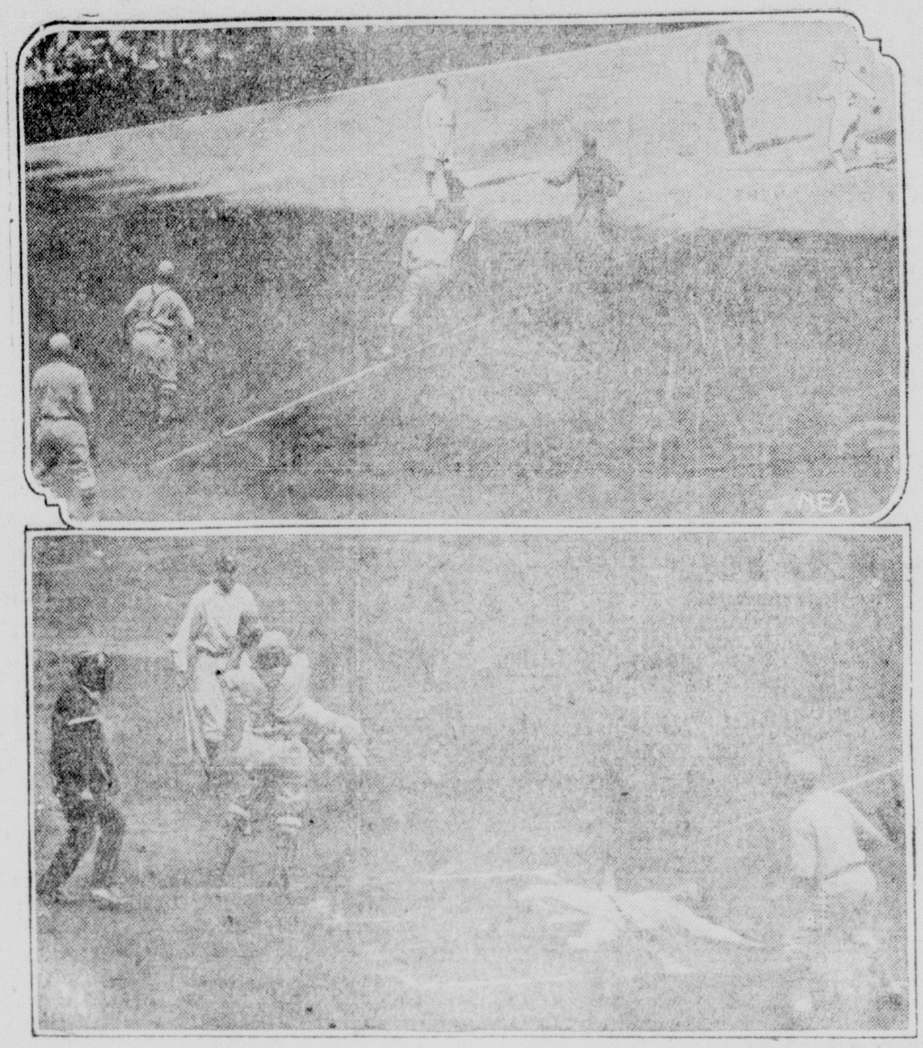
Cards-Yankee World Series Games in Pictures



Here's a second inning drama of the second world series game at New York in two fast photographic scenes. In the upper picture, behold Tony Lazerri of the Yanks trapped off third and dashing for the plate. Pitcher Grover Alexander has just heaved the ball to Third Sacker Bell. But the heave was wild, and Bell missed it. SO—in the lower picture you see Lazerri sliding in safely beneath Catcher O'Farrell.

Showers that soaked the huge bleacher crowds to the skin meant nothing to the 38,000 rabid Cardinal fans in Sportsman's Park for the third game of the World Series. This photo shows the loyal bleacher fans using newspapers and umbrellas to protect themselves from the downpour that interrupted the game in the fourth inning.

Combs, first Yankee at bat in the first inning of the first game, got first on four balls. But he almost was nipped off the bag a moment later, but slid under First Baseman Bottomley to safety. After this he kept on going for his team's first score of the game.

Says China Taken by Outside Agencies

British Accused Of Having Eye On Thiber, Declares Far Eastern Times In Editorial.

Tientsin, China, Oct. 6.—"Poor Tibet to be Second Korea" declares the Far Eastern Times in heading an editorial which deals with information printed by the Shun Tien Shih Pao concerning alleged British aggression in Thibet.

The British are working in Thibet with increasing vigor and many British and Indian soldiers are stationed there, the Shun Tien Shih Pao states. Deserted villages are becoming prosperous trade centers, all important business is said to be in the hands of British merchants, English schools are numerous, and railway construction by British—including completion of the trunk line from India to Ta Chi Lin and Kiang Chi and continuance of the work to Chu La Sah—is to be the backbone of the British program. All mines along the railway are said to be in British hands.

"If the above news is true, it shows the very teeth of white Imperialism in its most ugly aspect," declares the Far Eastern Times. "It only serves as another typical example of British Imperialism in enslaving weak races and partitioning defenceless countries.

"In spite of President Wilson's advocacy of 'self-determination for small nations' and the enlightenment of the world today the traditional British slogan of 'Trade follows the flag' is sounding its drum merrily. In spite of Lord Balfour's empty promise to return Wai-hai-wei, made at the Washington Conference five years ago, nothing has been done to fulfill the promise. In spite of Sir Austen's continuous plea for China's friendship, the British foreign policy of aggressive avarice has been pursued steadily without the slightest change."

While these and other facts are declared to "show conclusively that the Anglo-Saxon civilization of which the British are proud and boastful is one of hideous hypocrisy and materialism which the Chinese despise and hate," the Far Eastern Times holds China herself largely to blame for permitting foreign aggression.

"Through her weakness China has been stripped of her buffer states one after the other," continues the editor. "Formosa and Korea be dominated by the Soviet Government, now Thibet is the next victim to fall. Finally China may be partitioned among the Powers, if China should not wake up in time."

China must first of all set her own house in order if she is to save Thibet, asserts the writer. Next a "sharp note of protest" must be sent Great Britain. Finally the Chinese Government must do something toward educating the Thibetans and developing Thibetan resources.

"Whether Thibet will be a part of Chinese territory or a British colony in the coming decade is a question which the Chinese must answer for themselves," concludes the editorial.

Big Jess Haines, St. Louis speedball pitcher, was the hero of the third game of the World Series, played at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis. Haines put the game on ice in the fourth inning when he slammed a home run into the right field bleachers, scoring Thevenow ahead of him. This photo shows Haines beating out a hit to first in the third inning. It was a close decision and the Yankees protested. Haines' pitching completely baffled the Yanks. He shut them out, allowing only five hits.

Billy Southworth, traded in midseason by John McGraw of the Giants because McGraw thought he was slipping, was a Cardinal hero of the second world series game at New York, when he broke a 2-2 tie by hitting the series' first home run with two men on bases, in the seventh inning. This shows him crossing the plate, with Manager Hornsby, bat in hand, greeting him.

Moberly—This city has raised $100,000 toward its factory fund and the expansion campaign program is well under way. The goal has been set at $250,000, money to be used for factory purposes.

HARMONY

Remember the date of our Operetta October 12.

Willis Wilcox was out four days last week on account of illness.

On acount of muddy roads it was impossible to play our game with Pickering in the "Out Door Basket-Ball League" last Friday.

Playground equipment consisting of a giant stride, two swings, teeter-boards and parallel bars, were installed on the playground at Excelsior last Thursday. The work was done at a community meeting. Other of our ward schools expect to do the same soon.

The Frances Willard Day program by Pioneer school under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. O'Neal, was given last Tuesday before quite a number of patrons. The numbers showed good preparation on the part of the pupils and the exercises were enjoyed by all. The High School pupils attended in a body by special invitation.

Practice on basketball and tennis courts entirely suspended last week on account of muddy grounds.

Three members of our High School who belong to the Beef Club exhibited their calves at Ravenwood Thursday and then took them to Maryville for display on Saturday. Those exhibiting were, Thelma Green, Oral Porter, and Leon Brown. By winning in a judging contest at the Bellows stock farm, Leon Brown becomes a member of the team that will represent Nodaway County at St. Joseph this week. Some of the members of the club will see their calves sell in St. Joseph.

Perry Sapp and Harold Hinton visited us Monday.

No more "September Morns" this year and we're glad of it.

Heavy rains fell in this vicinity Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. W. W. Peterson preached a trial sermon Thursday evening of last week. At the conclusion of the service the local congregation extended to him a call to become pastor of this charge. He was unable to state definitely whether he would accept or not, but will notify Mr. Saunders not later than this week. Rev. Petersen made a very favorable impression on his congregation and the wish was quite generally expressed that he would consent to take the work. In case he decides to come here he will be unable to get here before the first part of November.

Leo Murray and family and Alva Pride and family were dinner guests at the R. V. McKee home Sunday and radio listeners to the World Series Ball game.

Miss Dorris McKee visited Saturday night at Cecil Lawson's in Ravenwood and returned to her home the next day.

Perry Sapp, who now has employment in a large produce house in Holstein, Iowa, came down last Friday to visit home folks in the Long Branch neighborhood. He expected to return Tuesday. He reports finding muddy roads only on the southern portion of his trip.

The heavy showers of Sunday forenoon made Sunday School out of the question. Everybody come next Sunday.

J. E. Porter and son Oral were in Maryville early Monday morning.

The VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

NEA FICTION

© 1926 by G P PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

MRS. PRENTISS sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the HEATH household next door one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, vivacious, golden-haired, to whom suspicion points because of her refusal to answer questions.

Myra Heath was peculiar: She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and garbed in gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Anderson disagrees. TODHUNTER BUCK, nephew of Mrs. Prentiss and in love with Bunny, suggests to Cunningham that Heath also may have been murdered.

EMMA, a waitress in the Heath home, tells of Seeing Bunny ascend the stairs about the time of the murder, carrying her vanity case. Later Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Perry Heath telling her Inman is guilty. Bunny breaks down and faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT, who makes up his mind that she is guilty. Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunny creeping upstairs after the murder.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIX.

Detective Mott promised himself a profitable afternoon, as he approached the Heath house for the express purpose of grilling the servants.

He had his suspicions and his theories pretty well in shape, he told himself but he needed corroboration and also hoped to get side lights on certain aspects of the tragedy.

He passed the two men whom he saw talking on the veranda, and went around to the rear entrance.

Herrick admitted him, and with an air of importance, the detective ensconced himself in the Servants' room, and commanded the butler to round up the whole staff and bring them at once.

There were, therefore, five harried and alarmed looking faces grouped in front of him, when he began his inquisition.

He had heard their stories before, but informed the seared servants that he believed they had not told all they knew, and unless they were prepared to come across with the whole truth, he hinted that there were vague but no less idle punishments awaiting them.

So frightening was his demeanor that his auditors, especially the women, became verbose and even garrulous.

"You never asked me nothing!" exclaimed Mrs. Pierce, the cook, as if resentful at being left out of the game. "And I know a lot!"

"I'll bet you do," said Mott, encouragingly.

As a matter of fact, he hadn't much faith in the value of the cook's knowledge for he considered her domain was entirely outside the family's living rooms, and he doubted her opportunities for observation.

But he must leave no stone unturned, so he said, what a fine mixture of request and commanded:

"Tell what you know, Pierce, if it has any bearing on the case."

"Bearing on the case, is it? Well, sir, rather! I seen the murderer a sneakin' down the stairs in the dead o'night, to do his murderin'!"

"You did?" Mott's attention was caught at last. "Who was it?"

"Who but Mr. Inman, to be sure. And him comin' along so soft and catfooted, not makin' a sound—but I saw him plain as plain! that I did!"

"At what time was this?" Mott held his pencil over his notebook. "Be careful now—if you don't know exactly, say so—don't draw on your imagination."

"Well, it would be not far from two o'clock, one way or another."

"And what were you doing out of bed at that time of night?"

"I was chasin' that Katie! Not that I'm responsible for the morals of any young girl the mistress chooses to get in here, but I can't help takin' an interest, and Katie's a good girl, though over fond of traipsin' out of evenin's."

"But we have account of Katie's time of entrance—"

"Yes, sir. And you know that Emma sneaked down to let her in, and all that. And you know that Emma went right back to bed, and that Katie lingered downstairs, as she most generally does, a eatin' cold bits out of the ice-box. Well, I had just enough cream for the breakfast, it wasn't over plenty, and I was scared that Katie'd make way with it, so I says to myself, I'll just slip down and see to that. So, down I come, in me dressin' gownd, and sure enough, that Katie was just about reachin' for the cream pitcher! Well, I saved the cream, and I give her a good talkin' to. Then I sends her up to bed, and after a look round to see was the cat in her box, and the likht all out, I was for goin' up myself, when I heard a step on the front stairs.

"Not meanin' to snoop, but fearin' 'twas some interloper, I stuck me head in the door far enough to see 'twas Mr. Inman a comin' down. As he had a right to maunder about the house if he chose, I shut the door softly and went upstairs. I thought no more about it, till you began askin' questions. And so, I thought I better out with it."

"Well," Mott hid his interest behind a look of indifference, "it may prove of some importance and it may not. You're sure it was Mr. Inman?"

"Sure, sir."

"Did he have a light?"

"No, sir, he was feelin' his way like. I could see him by the wee bit of light from the hall behind me, and I shut the door quick, so's he wouldn't see me."

"Where was he going?"

"I don't know, sir, except that he was comin' down stairs. He was about half way down, a hangin' onto the banister like."

"I see. Well, Pierce, do you know anything more about the family's doings that night?"

"Only that Emma said, that she saw Miss Bunny go upstairs at half past one."

"H'm, they'sall seemed to be wakeful! Emma, tell me again of your seeing Miss Moore."

"Well, sir, I was for letting Katie in, and then Iwas for getting back as quick as I could. And as I went up the back stairs, I saw Miss Moore coming up the front stairs. I could see her, but I don't think she saw me—she was takin' on something fierce."

"What do you mean, taking on?"

"Well, she wasn't exactly crying, but she was sobbing dry-like, and sorta gasping, 'sif she was scared stiff."

"She was dressed—"

"She had on a neglijay, sir. A light blue chiffon it was—oh, a pretty one!"

"And she was carrying—"

"Her vanity case. Oh, a lovely one! All gold and chains and danglin' doodads. It clinked a little as she walked, she was that shaky."

"Well, then, Miss Moore went up at one-thirty?"

"Yes, sir, half past one as ever was."

Mott turned back to Pierce.

"And you saw Mr. Inman go down at two o'clock?"

"Yes, sir, that I did. About two, it was."

"You women can both swear to these statements?"

They said they could, and Mott made notes of the given hours. It seemed to him he was narrowing down the facts of the case.

"Now, Emma, I know it is not a nice thing to do, to talk about your employers, especially when they are not here to defend themselves. But a case like this annuls all laws of ethics, and you must answer my questions truthfully. Do you think Mr. Inman and Miss Moore are attached to one another—in—er—any sentimental way?"

"Oh, no sir. That they are not."

"You seem very sure."

"Of course us servants can't help seein' things."

"You can't, anyway, Emma," broke in Mrs. Pierce. "You're everlastingly snoopin' around on your betters. Don't you say a word now, about their affairs!"

"On the contrary," Mrs. Pierce," Mott said, sternly, "Emma must tell anything she knows. It is a serious matter to hold back information from the law and unless, Emma, you want to get yourself arrested, you'd better come across with whatever you know. But, mind, now, nothing that you don't know. We don't want surmises or guesswork."

"Emma knows little about what goes on in the house," Carter said, with an air of superior knowledge. "She is only a waitress—I am the ladies' maid."

"Your turn will come," the detective assured her. "Emma is talking now. Go on, Emma, tell me anything you know of the flirtations of Miss Moore. If she was not attracted by Mr. Inman, was she by any one else?"

"Well, sir, she and the master—they was friends like."

"Yes? And how do you know?"

"Well, now and again, I'd sort of see them stoppin' in corners like, and he'd kiss her, or pat her arm—oh, you know, sir!"

Emma blushed deeply and Mott said, very gravely, "Yes, I know. Now, did you often see scenes of this sort?"

"No, sir, not so often."

"When was the last time, for instance?"

"The night Mrs. Heath died, sir. That evening after dinner, I was putting away the silver in the sideboard, and the dining room windows open on the terrace, and I couldn't help seeing, just outside, was Mr. Heath and Miss Bunny, and him holdin' her in his arms and kissin' her."

"You are certain, Emma?" Mott did not smile or show surprise.

"Yes, sir, certain."

"That will do. Let no one present mention any word of this conversation. As I told you the inquiries of a detective in a case like this are necessary, and are sacred. If any one of you repeats a word of what you are now hearing you will be promptly and duly punished.

Mott's manner carried even more threatening hints than his words, and the whole crowd was properly impressed.

A SLOW DEGENERATION OF BRAIN TISSUE

A Quiet Life and Peaceful Surroundings for the Patient, with Proper Medication, Can Help if Prescribed in Time.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

It is a wonder that the brain and nerves do not suffer more than they do from disease. But delicate as they are, they can withstand most assaults. However, the battering of worry, late hours, loss of sleep, wrong eating, and other bad habits must and do result in serious impairment in action and, sometimes, in complete derangement of the function of the brain and nervous system.

"General Paresis" and "General Paralysis of the Insane" are names given a disease which was unknown a century ago. Today it is all too frequently met.

In cities and countries where social standards are low this ailment is commonly observed. Persons in the active years of life, from thirty to fifty, are attacked, and men are more apt to have the disease than women.

One out of ten inmates in every insane asylum is the victim of general paresis, or "G. P.," as the doctors call it.

In this disease there is slow degeneration of the brain substance. It actually becomes smaller and loses in weight. The spinal cord and all the nerves are affected in a similar way.

You can see that such actual and serious changes must result in permanent injury to the action of the mind and nervous system. This is what happens.

The victim of general paresis becomes weak in mind. His memory is impaired, his judgment is lost, and, after a while, his moral fibre is gone.

The first symptoms noted are extreme nervousness, fear, headache, irritableness, and loss of power to perform mental work. These abnormal signs persist sometimes for years. Then appear melancholia, mania, and paralysis of the muscles. The patient walks unsteadily, he can hardly write because of trembling hands, he talks thickly and ultimately becomes helpless and bedridden.

The G. P. Patient forgets his engagements and negiects his business. He talks at a great rate. "He arches the sky of his fancy with the gainbow of ecstatic hope." He may have delusions and fancy all sorts of strange things.

When you discover peculiar and unusual mental symptoms in yourself or a member of your family, you should see the family doctor. Don't grow morbid over the condition. It may be of no consequence whatever, but, even if it is, early attention may relieve it. General paresis, for instance, has back of it a fundamental disease which, taken in the beginning may be overcome. The longer it is neglected the more helpless the outcome.

This disease used to be counted among the incurable conditions. With improved methods of treatment. It is looked upon far more favorably. A quiet life and peaceful surrounding added to proper medication, if prescribed early enough, give hope of recovery.

Answers To Health Queries.

R. E. L. Q.—What do you advise for stiff joints?

A.—This condition is due to an infection. The teeth, tonsils, sinuses, glands, intestines and kidneys are all possible sources of the trouble. Find the cause and the proper treatment may be prescribed. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Harry L. Q.—Will drinking a pint of milk every day at noon help or bother constipation? 2—Does ice cream cause constipation?

A.—In most cases milk is not constipating. 2.—No.

S. C. Q.—What do you suggest as a cure for biting the fingernails.

A.—Will power is very essential. Try painting the fingers with tincture of asafetida.

J. E. P. Q.—What is the cause of pimples? How can they be cleared up?

With better health your circulation will improve. In the meantime massage should help to some extent. For farther particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

S. A. P. Q.—What should a girl weigh who is 14 years old and 5 ft. 5 ins. tall? 2—What are some of the most fattening foods?

Burlington Junction

(J. Howard Thompson, Correspondent)

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Milfred McIntyre last Saturday afternoon. This is their first born. Mother and child are doing well.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. O. Wells passed through town last Saturday afternoon on their way to their home in St. Joseph, where Mr. Wells will be employed this coming year. He was pastor of the M. E. Church in Elmo last year, and at the recent session of the annual conference, at his own request, was given the retired relation. He will make his home in the future in St. Joseph.

Judge William Woods, who was called to Hollywood, Florida a week or ten days ago, returned home last Saturday. He reports his Florida home a complete wreck, but that he will immediately plan to put it in such repair as possible, and still maintain it as a winter home for himself and family. He estimates his loss at about $5,000.

The excessive rains of Saturday and Sunday put the rivers and creeks again out of their banks and over the lowlands. About five hundred feet of track on the Burlington Railroad was washed out north of town, tieing up all railroad traffic on that line for nearly two days. Trains are again in operation, but far behind schedule time.

The Rev. J. V. Hawk, with his wife and son, Thoburn, were marooned in town from Saturday night until Monday afternoon, on account of high waters and suspension of Burlington train service. He was on his way to Skidmore, where he will assume the pastorate of the Methodist Church for the coming year. He was stationed at Laredo, Mo., last year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Aley, are storing their household goods, preparatory to going to Corpus Christi, Tex., and other Rio Grande points for the winter. They left for their southern home on Wednesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bush of Broken Bow, Neb., are here visiting the families of William Bush and Charles Wagner. Earl Bush is a nephew of William Bush.

Fletcher Dalby is in Maryville this week doing service on the grand jury, now in session in the county seat town. Great interest is being manifested, and a large number of our citizens have been called before the grand jury as witnesses. The outcome will be waited with interest.

A few weeks ago, Mrs. Jess Jones was appointed by the pastor of the Methodist Church as director of social activities for the church, and on Tuesday night she gave her first social in the church parlors. It was a very enjoyable affair. There were twenty-five young people present, and each had a most delightful time in music and games of various kinds. Refreshments consisting of doughnuts and chocolate were served. It is the plan of Mrs. Jones to make these social gatherings a regular monthly affair.

Mrs. V. W. Freeman of Shenandoah, Ia., is here visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Heryford. She will leave today for her home. Mrs. Freeman is the mother of Mrs. Heryford.

Gerald Boyer and family are moving from the Iuka Shield property in the north part of town, where they have been living for the past year, to the Dr. Wallace property in the eastern part of town. Their present home will be larger and more commodious than the one they are leaving.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church held a very interesting session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Graves, one mile east of town, last Tuesday afternoon. There were fifteen members present. One new member was secured during the meeting. In the absence of Mrs. Garrett, who was to conduct the lesson, but who was sick and unable to attend, Mrs. T. A. Corken had charge of the lesson. Mrs. C. E. Cossin was the leader and presided. An interesting program was rendered as follows: Prayer by Rev. J. Howard Thompson, the pastor; Scripture reading and comments by Mrs. Cossins; and a solo by Mrs. Berry Haun. Mrs. Hulda Nicholas played the organ. Mrs. L. C. Severs and Mrs. Kenneth Fordyce were assistant hostesses. A luncheon was served at the close of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Northcutt, and Mrs. Ebb Northcutt, all of Portland, Ore., in company with Mrs. J. B. Northcutt of Nebraska City, Neb., came Tuesday for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Gaugh. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Rees. Mrs. J. B. Northcutt is a sister of Mrs. Gaugh, W. H. Northcutt is a son of Mrs. J. B. Northcutt, and Mrs. Ebb Northcutt is a daughter-in-law. The younger people came east at this time to attend the funeral of their father, which occurred last Wednesday at Nebraska City. While there they decided to take a few days before returning home to visit the relatives in Burlington Junction.

R. H. Rees left Tuesday night for Sioux City, Ia., to look after the sale of some marketable calves sent in from his ranch in Northwest Nebraska to the Sioux City cattle market. He will return home the latter part of the week.

Edwin Caldwell, who was reported quite sick last week, is much improved.

The excessive rains and resultant muddy roads have cost the town of Burlington Junction thousands of dollars in business in the past six weeks. The patronizing public could not get to town on account of the mud, either to bring their produce or purchase goods. With cooler weather and a change of the wind, we are now hoping that the worst is past and that conditions will soon be normal again.

The Rev. J. Howard Thompson is organizing a Sunday School class with himself as teacher, among the class of boys who do not ordinarily go to Sunday school. He has great interest aroused. He entertained his class Monday night, by taking them to the picture show. The class will be double in number Sunday to what it was last Sunday. He hopes to make it reach at least thirty.

When Vern Dolph, our street commissioner, gets through with grading of the streets, Burlington Junction will be a city of well graded streets and splendid drainage. He has a force of two men and teams with road scrapers cleaning out all drainage ditches and raising the streets from one to three feet.

The citizens of Burlington Junction Tuesday afternoon witnessed an unusual sight. At about 5 o'clock in the afternoon a very large flock of sea gulls, coming from the northeast and flying toward the southwest, passed over the city. There were literally hundreds of them and they were flying very high. From whence they were going we are unable to tell. Our attention was called to them by a little girl, about 6 years of age.

I am wondering if an old fashioned basket dinner, for both the town folk and the country people would not be a fine thing, a generous thing to do. There seems to be a sort of an aloofness between the town and the country. That would bring us together, in a neighborly sort of way, and have a tendency to break down and do away with any existing barriers. We are each dependent upon the other, and let each be of all the service to the other that it is possible for us to be. Think it over, folks and see if a great community picnic could not be arranged.

The duck season is on and many of our sportsmen are enjoying the hunting season. We see many of them having had most splendid fortune in bagging their game. The writer is promised a good dinner some of these days. It will be greatly appreciated.

Miss Frieda Crouse, one of our grade school teachers, whose home is in Mound City, spent the week-end at her home last week. During her absence from the school, the heavy rains came and she met with considerable difficulty in getting back to Burlington Junction. However, she was on time and on the job again when Monday morning came.

The roads continue in a very bad condition, being yet impassable in many places. The horse and buggy or wagon, as the case may be, is brought into service again and used as they have not been in a number of years. Highway No. 18 continues in a very bad condition.

The Rev. A. L. Ragsdale went to Workman Chapel Monday night, where he preached. He had to travel some very difficult roads both in going and coming. He preaches regularly on Monday nights at Workman Chapel.

Hi-Y Members Talk About Cleanliness

Round-Table Discussion Held at High School This Morning—Committee Is Named.

The Hi-Y Club of the Maryville High School this morning discussed the second series on "A Clean School." Edward Dietz and Walter Mutz lead the discussions which were followed by round-table talks.

The program given follows:

Song; Scripture, read by George Epperson; prayer, Ned Swinford; saxaphone solo, Edward Hudson; talks on "A Clean School."

A committee of three boys were appointed to interview grade teachers of the Washington School and secure the names of leading boys who might be willing to meet with the Hi-Y council preparatory to holding a grade assembly of boys to put over a Hi-Y project. The boys appointed are Walter Mutz, Calvin Allen and Wilbur Frankum.

The Hi-Y will attend the morning services at the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday morning. The organization plans to visit some church or young people's society every third Sunday.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Grains failed to get out of their ruts on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat registered an early advance on the strong cables but soon started to slide back to its old levels. Even the news of a million-bushel export business failed to cause enthusiasm. A fair demand kept cash prices steady. Futures closed ¾ to 1 cent lower.

Corn was fairly steady but weakened near the close. Cash values were unchanged while futures were ½ to ⅝ off.

The cash demand for oats was slow but prices showed no change. Futures closed unchanged.

Heavy deliveries of lard forced provisions to a lower close.

BEARCATS TO PLAY K. S. O.

LOCAL ELEVEN TO BE SEEN IN ACTION HERE SATURDAY.

VISITORS ARE STRONG

Osteopaths Have Record for Turning Out Good Teams.—S. T. C. Line-Up May Be Changed.

Football fans of Maryville and vicinity will have their first opportunity to witness the State Teachers College Bearcats in action Saturday. Negotiations for a game for that date were completed yesterday, and the eleven from the Kirksville Osteopathic College will be here for a game.

This game will be the second of the season for the Bearcats. Last Saturday they won from Missouri Wesleyan College of Cameron at St. Joseph, 13 to 0.

The game Saturday should be a good one. The Bonesetters are always strong, and reports on the team indicate that this year is no exception.

There is a possibility that there will be a number of changes in the Maryville line-up Saturday. Unless those who started the game last week against Missouri Wesleyan knock off some of the rough spots before the week is over, it is likely that others will be in their shoes when the whistle blows.

Yesterday and Monday H. Frank Lawrence and Paul Jones, Bearcat coaches, sent their charges through a series of hard practices. All departments of the game were touched in these work-outs and it is evident that the local mentors know wherein their team is weak and are working to remedy the situation.

Yesterday at the start of practice, Coach Lawrence had Captain Dave Eads working for some time on his specialty, place kicking. The be-moustached leader of the Bearcats was booting them from all angles and all distances, and those who witnessed his work are looking forward with pleasure to seeing him repeat in games this year.

The Bonesetters will likely arrive in Maryville Friday night, and the game will start at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The officials have not yet been named.

Says Illicit Drug Trade Is Flourishing in Chile

Prominent Official Charges Has Caused Government To Adopt Most Stringent Means.

Santiago De Chile, Oct. 6.—An opium scandal involving the Director of Pharmacies, Sr. Thomas Matus, and a prominent importer, Sr. Santiago Albagly, has caused the government to adopt the most stringent means in an attempt to squelch the illicit trading in drugs.

A ton of raw opium was found hidden recently in various houses including those belonging to Sr. Matus and Sr. Albagly. It is estimated by police officials that this amount is probably the largest ever to have been uncovered as the result of a single raid.

The chief of police and the head of the secret service department are at present directing their efforts to stop further illegal importation of drugs to Chile and are also doing their utmost to discover and arrest other dealers in this illicit traffic which is believed to have been flourishing with great financial profit during the past few years.

In accordance with this program, special vigilance will be kept along the frontiers so as to prevent opium entering by way of the Andes mountains. Meticulous revision will also be made by the customs officials of all articles transported to this country by vessels touching at Asiatic ports.

It is known that opium has been successfully smuggled in by traders who have crossed the high range of mountains between Bolivia and Chile, carrying their packs on mules. Evidence has also been found to prove that narcotics have been brought into the country by cleverly concealing the contraband in hollow articles.

Reports from the interior of Chile show that the opium trade is not confined to large cities, like Santiago and Valparaiso, but is also being carried on in little towns of less than five thousand.

THREE ARE INELIGIBLE

THREE SPOOFHOUNDS' GRADES ARE UNSATISFACTORY.

TEAM FEELS EFFECT

Two Boys Not To Be In Lineup Against Tarkio Here Friday Had Won Letters.

Tarkio high school, whose rivalry with Maryville started years ago at inter-high school athletic's birth, will meet a sad array of Spoofhounds in a football game on the college grid at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Two letter men, around whom many of the Maryville team's plays have been built, and one other experienced player who came near earning his school's letter last year, will not be in the line-up this week because of delinquent grades, it was made known at the high school today.

While the names of the boys who have not kept their grades up as the eligibility rules require have not been made public, fans who know the personnel of the Spoofhound squad will miss them from the lineup Friday. A tackle and an end position may be affected by their loss. The third player ineligible for the game against Tarkio has been playing in the backfield.

It is the line, which contains the experienced players, that has provided the most substantial material for this year's Spoofhound squad and the loss of two men likely will be noticed to no small degree. However, the high school officials have pointed out, and students have also said, that all athletes representing Maryville must keep up their grades if they expect to take part in contests.

Tarkio has an experienced team this year, according to the word received here, and the Spoofhounds likely will have a difficult time meeting the Tark onslaughts. Coach E. J. Justus, captain of the William Jewell eleven and all-conference end, is expected to bring a well groomed squad here for the game.

Officials for the Tarkio-Maryville game have not yet been selected.

Post-War Adjustment Like Civil War Days

National Debt Has Been Reduced 23 Per Cent Since 1919, American Bankers Are Told.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 6. — In a speech delivered this morning by Garrard B. Winston, Under-secretary of the Treasury to the American Bankers Association Convention he said in part:

"In peace times the United States does not resort to credit, but pays cash. Except for some relatively small borrowings to strengthen the currency and to build the Panama Canal, any national indebtedness has represented the price of war."

"After the Revolutionary War our foreign and internal indebtedness, which included the indebtedness of the States assumed by the Federal Government upon Alexander Hamilton's insistence, aggregated in 1790 some $71,000,000. The foreign debt was paid by 1815, and the entire debt retired by 1832. Figures as to the real burden of the debt are incomplete, since we have no satisfactory estimate of national wealth or of national income at that time, but when one remembers that we were then a new nation, poverty stricken, and with little industrial development ,this reduction of debt represents a truly great effort."

"In the Civil War cycle, we find an interesting comparison with our situation today. We owed practically nothing when that war commenced. At its close, the peak of the indebtedness was 2¾ billion. In 194 our debt of about one billion was represented principally by bonds to secure National Bank circulation. We reached the peak of 25½ billion dollars in 1919. In the seven years after the Civil War the debt was reduced 22 per cent. In the seven years since 1919, that is to 1926, the debt has been reduced 23 per cent. $600,000,000 reduction then as against 6 billion dollars now, but still by this great accomplishment we have put no greater burden on the individual taxpayer since the last war than was done sixty years ago."

Says Chaplain to Retire From Motion Pictures

United Artists Corporation Official, Now In London, Declares "Napoleon" To Be Charley's Last.

London, Oct. 6.—Charley Chaplin whose antics on the flickering film have made millions all over the world laugh, is planning to retire from picture making, according to Arthur Kelly, vice-president of the United Artists Corporation, who is now visiting London.

According to Kelly, Chaplin's appearance in "Napoleon," which is now being filmed, will be his final appearance on the silver screen. Kelly did not reveal Chaplin's reasons for retiring.

High Bell Tower Is Moved by Italian

Crescentino, Italy, Oct. 6.—Big structures such as belfry towers were moved about in this city without the aid of modern machinery 150 years ago. The city is now celebrating the sesqui-centennial of Crescentino Serra, an illiterate workman, who moved the huge cathedral bell tower ten feet in 776.

Serra, knowing nothing about mathematics or engineering, performed the feat in less than two hours. So sure was he as to the success of his undertaking that he placed his son on the steeple ringing the bells as it was being moved, while the crowd of excited and cheering onlookers feared that the structure would fall any moment.

In principle, there was no difference in Serra's method and the method used today. A bridge of beams was built under the structure, while eight ropes and windlasses were used to drag the belfry along the bridge to its new site. Serra did all his figuring mentally and intuitively.

Sixty lire in gold or twelve dollars was all he demanded as compensation.

Race Horse Owner Visits Father Here

James M. Palmer, who has been "making" several race courses over the country, arrived in Maryville Monday for a visit with his father, George Palmer, who makes his home with Mrs. Frank Smart. Palmer has five horses and went from here to Little Rock, Ark., to attend the races. He will go later to Shreveport, La., and then on to Havana, Cuba.

Palmer has made quite a success with his horses. His father is past 99 years of age.

OUR COLLEGE

What The Students Out On The Hill Are Doing

The student body will choose the president and vice-president of the student association at the College tomorrow. Cleo T. Wyman and Miss Pauline Manchester are opposing Burdette Yeo and Miss Elizabeth Mills for the office.

The voting will start early tomorrow morning and will last throughout the day. The class in citizenship, taught by H. A. Foster, will have charge of the election as in the past.

Each of the two combinations is supported by a strong following, and campaigns are vigorous. The College buildings are placarded heavily, and a person-to-person canvass of the student body is being carried on by both factions.

The Wyman-Manchester contingent has stretched a name banner between two electric light poles in front of the administration building.

The religious organizations of the College are showing a large attendance this year. Both the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. report advanced memberships and the Newman Club, a Catholic organization, has a large list of members.

The Women's Athletic Association will hold an organization meeting at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. This organization is composed of all interested in physical education for women. It is an active group, sponsoring several College functions each year.

The world series baseball games at St. Louis are being received at the College through the courtesy of the Price Furniture Co. Clun Price has placed a radio and a loud speaker on the stage in the College auditorium, and both yesterday and today a large crowd of students and faculty members listened to the game.

The broadcasting was aided by a scoreboard arranged on a large blackboard, and operated by H. Frank Lawrence and Paul Jones, the College coaches.

Community singing and announcements featured the weekly assembly at the College this morning. Charles Gardner, director of the Conservatory of Music, led the students in the singing of a number of songs. "Old Fashioned Garden," "Lil' Liza Jane," "The Missouri Waltz," and many other favorites rang out as the students participated in the singing.

The rooms in the College which were formerly the gymnasiums have been transformed into study and recreation rooms. The old women's gymnasium is a study room. The former men's gymnasium is an eating room between noon and 12:30 o'clock daily. After that hour it is used as a recreation room by children of the demonstration schol.
